

To our NEW Members...welcome to the CACCE. To our Returning Members... thank you for your continue support and trust in CACCE.

2010 will be a challenging year for business in the Carolina's. While our different state governments are trying to move forward from the political chaos that has plagued it for months, we have watched local businesses close down, budgets being cut across the board and the people of our communities laid off work.

Now is the time to step up and provide the leadership that we need in our business communities. We need you to be a resource for business and an active member of the community.

That's where CACCE comes in to provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. CACCE is a merger product of the North Carolina (NCACCE) and the South Carolina (SCACCE) Association of Chamber of Commerce Executives which allowed it to be renamed as CACCE. CACCE was formed in August of 1994.

CACCE provides great tools such as the website –www.cacce.org that is loaded with information that will assist all members. It goes into great details about everything from when and where meetings are held, resources, a newsletter to tell you about different conferences and other events that will come to your area. Our website also provides you with a membership directory, so if you ever have any questions there is always someone you can call on for help. The website also allows you to email other members and shows the easy steps to become a member of CACCE so you can have a chance to invite others. Finally it shows success stories from other members who tell how CACCE has helped them and changed their lives.

For the members only section of the website in this packet you will find that we have provided you with your very own membership ID and PASSWORD . Also enclosed is a membership directory, and a updated survey. Remember the website is always the most current resource.

We hope you attend all our events that will be coming up this year and consider joining a CACCE committee. I hope that you take advantage of all that CACCE has to offer for you, your business and your community.
